How can I use this with my children?

Challenge cards are a fun way to give your child quick activities that test their understanding. In this case, they give them the chance to practise converting between pounds, pence, words and coins.

How does this help my children's learning?

These challenge cards allow your child to apply a range of skills. To convert between pounds and pence, they need to understand that the amounts are equal and be able to divide and multiply by 100.

Ideas for further learning:

To give your child an extra challenge you could try creating some cards that have larger amounts, which may require your child to use notes and coins to make them.
